ATHENS, Dec. 18.—Greece's hard-fighting warriors drove still further into Albania today, battling frigid temperatures, wind-driven snow drifts and the greatest Italian counter-attack the conflict has yet produced.

The Fascist counter-drive failed completely to halt the Greek offensive. Two of Premier Mussolini's crack divisions were smashed, while on other sectors Italian forces retreated precipitately or struggled against impending encirclement.

Over mountainous terrain strewn with Italian bodies the Greeks pushed.

President Urges Plan To Loan Armament And Ships To Britain

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—While anti-interventionists rallied their forces, President Roosevelt today planned to make a personal appeal to the new congress in January for approval of his program to turn the United States into a huge arsenal to manufacture ships, guns, planes and munitions to lend or lease to England.

American taxpayers will be asked to finance the program through congressional appropriations. It was reliably reported that the president may ask the new congress for $2,000,000,000 as the first step in financing the program.

Lend or Lease
President Roosevelt, who announced the plan the day after returning from a defense tour of the Caribbean during which he conferred with England's Duke of Windsor, said that the program is designed to eliminate the dollar sign from British-American relations, however. Declaring defense for America, he explained that this country will simply lend or lease huge quantities of armaments.

REPORT CRASH

WEST OF CITY

State Motor police received a report of an auto accident at 10:15 a. m. today 1½ miles west of New Castle on Route 422 in which both cars were damaged. One was driven, police claim, by Francis Rocks, Rocky River, O., and the other by Howard A. Kilbreath, R. D. 2, Accord, N. J.

German authorities said that the regime of Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain agreed upon continued collaboration with the "new European order" projected by Germany and Italy.

Furthermore, they declared, Pierre Laval, who was ousted by Petain as French vice premier and foreign minister, will remain a member of the French government.

Two Ships Send Appeals For Aid

Report They Are Being Attacked By Sub 500 Miles West Of Scotland

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Two ships, one Dutch and one Norwegian, were attacked by a submarine 500 miles west of Scotland, according to distress calls picked up by MacKay radio today.

The latest vessel to signal was the Norwegian freighter Dalfonn which reported that she was being attacked by a submarine 500 miles west of the Hebrides.

Earlier the Dutch steamer Penrecht flashed an SSS (submarine attack signal) calling for immediate assistance after she had been torpedoed in approximately the same spot. The Dalfonn stated that there was a suspicious tanker flying a Dutch flag in the vicinity when the submarine attacked.

Laval was released yesterday from custody, evidently upon the insistence of German Ambassador Otto Abetz, who came to Vichy from Paris and conferred at length with Petain yesterday.

It was reported that when Abetz left for Paris last night to make a telephone report to Berlin on the "general situation" in France, he was accompanied by Laval.

Today all Vichy was wondering what role Laval now is destined to play in the political future of France.

Roosevelt's Move Cheers British

Enthusiasm Is Shown In Political Circles In London Over Proposal

ENGLAND SEES GREATER U. S. HELP

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 18.—News that President Roosevelt will ask congress for legislation enabling the United States to lease or loan munitions, guns, planes, ships and other supplies to Great Britain created unbounded enthusiasm in British political quarters today.

Making no effort to conceal their pleasure, these circles predicted that the stage is now being set for "extremely interesting and vital discussions" regarding both the United States and Britain after the new American congress convenes Jan. 3.

Authoritative quarters displayed special interest in what they called President Roosevelt's "downright, forthright" approach to the question of additional help for Britain.

They said that the ground by pointing out the fundamental problem is not one of dollars but rather of munitions.

Thus, they declared, President Roosevelt has put the whole matter on a "realistic basis" and has "shown America it is in the interest of the United States to find ways of putting into Britain's hands the necessary means for hastening conclusion of the war."

British government experts already are studying technical aspects of the problem.

Probe Fatal Blast At Cincinnati, O., 13 Bodies Located

(International News Service)
CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 18.—As the death toll mounted to 13 with the finding of another body, city and state authorities today launched investigations to determine the cause of a blast that wrecked a twin tenement house in Cincinnati's market district.

Latest body taken from the debris was that of Bobbie Morgan, adopted son of Jack Morgan, 28, and his wife, Freda, 23, both killed in the explosion. Police expressed fear still another body may be found in the wreckage.

Included in the 13 known killed was a baby born to Mrs. Lillian Schuetz, 42, while she lay buried in the wreckage. Mrs. Schuetz, her husband, Frank, and four other children of the family also perished.

Meanwhile, deputy state fire marshals investigated reports that Joseph P. Koebe, 33, operator of a general appliance shop on the ground floor and one of the victims of the blast, had three crooks killed in a highly explosive fluid stored in the basement of the building.

A survivor of the blast was quoted as saying that Koebe had warned a tenant not to drop a match near the three crooks as their contents were sufficiently strong to blow up the whole block.

Rumors that 30,000 Nazi troops already have arrived in Italy have been current in Belgrade for some time. Local officials said that British sources have spread the reports.

BUDAPEST, Dec. 18.—More than 50,000 German troops have gone to Italy during the past two weeks, according to unconfirmed reports reaching Budapest today.

The majority of the Nazi divisions have been rushed to the seaports of Bari and Naples, and the dispatches indicated that they are preparing to embark for Albania and Libya.

The remaining German soldiers reportedly will be kept in Italy to help Fascist police maintain order. In exchange for the German military aid, Italy will send thousands of laborers to work in Nazi factories, the dispatches said.

Physical examinations of men will start Thursday Mr. Conn said and will continue until the board has at least ten men who pass all the examinations.

By W. P. SAPHIRE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Dec. 18.—British mechanized troops have almost completely surrounded Italy's Libyan base of Bardia, it was reported in Cairo today, while Italian forces battled fiercely to hold the forts protecting the strategic seaport.

Latest advices from the front indicated that the reinforced British troops were mustering for a giant-scale frontal attack on the key Fascist base.

Fall of Bardia, military circles declared, would pave the way for an attack on Tobruk, 70 miles within Libya.

Britain Enjoys 30-Hour Raid Respite

British Fliers Continue To Pound Nazi-Held Channel Ports

MANNHEIM FIRES STILL BURNING

(International News Service) LONDON, Dec. 18.—While Britain enjoyed a 30-hour respite from Nazi bombing attacks, R.A.F. bombers pounded targets in Germany and along the coast of Nazi-occupied France, it was announced officially today.

A communique stated that despite adverse weather conditions British planes last night launched a second successive attack upon industrial objectives at Mannheim.

It said that fires started during Monday night's heavy attack on Mannheim were still burning when the British planes paid a return visit 24 hours later. Several new fires were started by the new assault, the communique added.

Other R.A.F. planes attacked ports and airbases along the French coast, the air ministry said.

The absence of German aerial attacks produced this air ministry communique on Nazi activities.

"There is nothing to report." Throughout the night there were no reports of any German planes over the British Isles. It was believed that bad weather in occupied France grounded the Nazi planes.

These conditions, however, failed to prevent the R.A.F. from pounding "invasion ports" along the French coast, causing explosions that could be heard from the shores of south-east England.

GREEK FIGHTERS DRIVE FURTHER INTO ALBANIA

ed forward relentlessly after the Fascists made a desperate effort to stem the Hellenic tide. The sacrificial Italian stand failed, and in the end positions of great strategic importance were abandoned by the Fascists where their counter-offensive failed.

Two Divisions Dispersed
The two Italian divisions, dispatched from the front, were dispersed in the Modena region after attempting seven counter-assaults aimed at gaining control of the heights above Tepeleni.

The high command described the latest triumphs in its usual terse communique, which said: "Hard pressed, the enemy retired with losses towards Klisura (north-east of Tepeleni on the central front) where some fires were observed."

"On other fronts operations continued successfully. Some prisoners were taken, among them a lieutenant colonel. A large quantity of material was captured."

Capture Unconfirmed

Reports that Tepeleni has been captured still went unconfirmed but in the hotly contested battle area northwest of Pogradec several small Italian detachments were said to have been cut off and encircled.

On all fronts the general Greek advance was reported gaining headway despite blizzards which raged in several sectors, while along the coast Italian heavy artillery units were reported silenced and Greek columns penetrated further in their drive against Valona.

An Italian prisoner, Capt. Emilio Ermanno, told of panic behind the Italian lines during the retreat to the Adriatic. In an interview Fascist officers frequently had used machine guns against their own men to check their flight.

on the land side of Bardia following capture of the Italian forts of Musaid, Sidi Omar, and Shefferzan. Royal Air Force bombers were reported keeping Bardia under a constant hail of bombs while navy warships harried Fascist defenses with their long-range guns.

And as the offensive in Northern Africa gained more momentum, the high command disclosed that a drive on the Italians in East Africa had been launched.

Report Move Into Ethiopia

British units, operating from Northern Kenya, have started to move into Ethiopia, a communique reported.

Meanwhile, patrol clashes were reported all along the frontier between the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and Italian East Africa.

All military activity in Cairo today indicated that reinforcements were being sent to all three fronts.

The fact that reinforcements are steadily being added to the advance forces was taken to indicate that the British plan to push deep into Libya before halting their offensive.

In making the successful encircling movement, British troops were reported to have seized large quantities of munitions, war materials, and many prisoners were taken.

The huge amount of war booty, according to the British, has given the desert troops a "well stocked line of advance."

Rome Report

Rome, Dec. 18.—As the result of heavy losses in men and material, British troops have "diminished their pressure" on Italian desert positions in North Africa, the Fascist high command announced today.

Summarizing yesterday's operations, the high command reported that the British mechanized units were subjected to a heavy shelling by Italian artillery and that other units behind the front-line were fiercely pounded by Fascist bombers.

The 6,000-ton British cruiser, which yesterday was reported to have been torpedoed while shelling the Libyan port of Bardia, has since capsized and sunk, the communique claimed.

One of the needs in the line of district improvements at the present time seems to be some plan for paving of North Mercer street, north of Sheridan avenue to the city line.

The project would have to be a joint city and Neshannock township program, as the street is the dividing line between city and township.

Starting with today and lasting for a period of ten days, the shortest days of the year are at hand, when the period of daylight is of equal length. The sun keeps rising later in the morning however until about the middle of January, but it also sets later in the afternoon.

From December 17 to December 27, inclusive the period of daylight is of equal length. Then it gradually lengthens, and as summer nears, the sun rises earlier in the morning and sets later in the evening.

Lots of folks think that the first day of winter is the shortest of the year, and it may be, if reckoned down to fractions of minutes, but according to the almanac, it is virtually the same for a ten day period at the time of the winter Solstice.

He was accompanied by his stepfather John Becker. The game warden asked to see the former's and Mr. Becker's licenses, and complimented the youth on his accomplishment.

Street department employees are kept extremely busy keeping the extension of South Croton avenue to South Jefferson street, and the extension of Mercer street to Jefferson above Central fire station in condition. There is a tremendous amount of traffic over these two short cuts, which are not paved and when the weather is rainy, big chuk holes wear in the streets in a few days time. Both should be paved.

At the public library a new idea in outdoor Christmas displays has been inaugurated. Instead of the presentation being out on the lawn as in past years it has been arranged on the portico on the North street side of the building. The display will thus be sheltered from the elements.

PRESIDENT URGES PLAN TO GIVE AID TO GREAT BRITAIN

ties of arms and munitions to England. When the war is over, he added, the U. S. will be repaid in kind.

His plan, also calling for expansion of armament plants, startled congress. Surprised Democrats said they would need time to study it before comment. Spokesmen for the anti-interventionist bloc claimed that there was no difference between lending munitions than lending dollars. Sen. Holt (D) W. Va., declared:

Evasion of Law
"This proposal is nothing more than an evasion of the Johnson and neutrality acts. It smacks of rank dishonesty."

Mr. Roosevelt explained that a loan of arms will not involve repeal of either the Johnson or neutrality laws, which bar loans and credits to nations in default on old World war debts.

Persons close to the chief executive believe that he will go before congress shortly after January 3 to make a personal appeal for his plan. Meanwhile, according to the president, Washington and London experts were expected to work out details.

BESSEMER WOMAN'S CLUB YULE PROGRAM

In the presence of an assemblage of over three hundred, members of the Bessemer Woman's club observed "Guest Night," Tuesday evening, in the Presbyterian church at their annual Yuletide program.

An original pageant, "Christmas Around the World" was in charge of Miss Frances Fullerton, which was a highlight, and Mrs. Ray Woodburn handled the musical features, including the direction of the chorus members. Mrs. Ivan Carlson, organist and a member of the music committee contributed much to the evening's success, and as aides, she had Mrs. Monas Cunningham, Mrs. Roy DeArment, Mrs. James Fullerton, Mrs. John Hayes, Mrs. J. H. Martin, Mrs. Richards Sheets and Mrs. A. G. Snyder.

Narrator for the evening was Mrs. Wilbur Miller, who also gave a special Christmas message. She told in a charming manner, of the characters given, and the names of characters taking part. Charlotte Anderson, Donna Flick and Wayne Anderson were Swedish children in the play, while Junior Martin and Jack Hedegore were Shepherds. Mrs. J. H. Martin gave a solo, and Marcia Ann Nord portrayed the part of an angel while Robert Rowe was flag bearer. Mrs. Audrey Snyder gave the organ recessional and the chorus delighted with selections at intervals throughout the evening. The role, "Babouska" from Russia was taken by Esther Dandman and those appearing as "Three Kings" were Mary Nord, Alma Adams and Mary Haig. Harolds included Leonard Anderson and Harold Heard while other parts of importance were enacted by Mrs. Ralph Throop and Mrs. Verlin Stearns.

The theme of the occasion "The Hanging of the Green" was cleverly carried out in the decorations of the church, which provided a colorful and most appropriate setting for the presentation.

Guest harpist, Miss Elizabeth Fellers of Youngstown, O., added variety with her group of Yuletide vibratory selections.

All participating gave excellent performances, making the evening one long to be remembered as a huge success. Much credit is due Miss Fullerton, Mr. Woodburn, Mrs. Carlson, with their aides, as well as the pageant committee, composing Frances Fullerton, Mrs. J. H. Martin, Mrs. Lester Nord, Mrs. A. G. Snyder and Mrs. Ivan Carlson.

A social period ensued, in the assembly rooms of the church, which too, were appointed in the Yule motif to the Nth degree. Refreshments were served, this being in charge of Mrs. E. C. Smith, with Mrs. Sam Book, Mrs. William Book, Mrs. Oliver Entle, Mrs. Paul Kanengiser, Mrs. Archie Shoup and Mrs. R. R. Throop.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

PEOPLE who aren't aware by now that Christmas is just around the corner probably are too far gone to respond to this feeble pulmotor. They are lost souls who will go through the season without ever knowing it has been here. They are quite hopeless and we give them up. Even so we see our duty and we do it: This is to inform them and everybody that Christmas is almost here.

There are, to be sure, other reminders of it by the dozen. In downtown New Castle for instance, one sees Christmas in the hurrying crowds, in the street and store decorations, in the Christmas packages under every arm. One hears it in the quickening tone of holiday conversation. One feels it in the air. The signs of approaching Christmas are many and colorful, and they make the brief period remaining before the day itself a period of anticipation and excitement like no other in the year. People who let it go by unnoticed are people to be pitied.

The Christmas season this year is in a number of ways several jumps ahead of its recent predecessors. Nobody ever saw so many people downtown, many of them apparently from out of town come to the stores to do their Christmas shopping. Stores are full and predicting record sales. The post office is more than holding its own.

All such matters fire us with great amounts of enthusiasm. We are the original Christmas fan, and have acquired our Christmas spirit even if the shopping must wait until the last day. It is a feeling, we think, which is eminently more satisfactory when shared with others. In the Christmas season, as in no other, it is better to give than to receive, even if one's only gift is a part of the feeling for Christmas. In a Christmas when many people will be happy, it is unfortunate that not everyone will be. In New Castle at any rate, make that number as small as it can be.

A WEEK TO GO

Here we are, entering the final lap of the pre-Christmas season. Just a week ago. It's a festive time, a time for hearty greetings and good cheer. About that good cheer, now. How about spreading some among the multitude of folk who help make all our Christmases?

We mean the salesmen and the saleswomen in the stores and shops, whose patience and courtesy seem unending. We mean the deliverymen, the mailmen, the transportation workers and all others whose work is so closely associated with our own Merry Christmas.

The rush reaches crescendo this week. Temper and patience will be taxed. So spare some of that Christmas spirit when the going is rough. It's bound to help.

BUT THEY ASKED FOR IT

The Japanese Government announces that "because of Japan's serious situation" it has invoked drastic provisions of the national mobilization law. These include complete control of foreign trade and daily necessities of life; governmental regulation of prices and use of farm land and of prices of forest products, together with increased "restrictions on news reports."

These measures are further steps in Japan's adaptation of totalitarian ideas. Just why additional "restrictions on news reports" seem necessary isn't clear. Heretofore Japanese newspapers and all methods of disseminating news have been pretty thoroughly regulated.

The new measures, and others to follow, go step by step with intensification of the rationing system in Japan, now affecting practically everything a Japanese family has to use. It may seem humorous that new rationing regulations will hold each Jap down to one towel a year from January 1 on.

For the Jap this, and all the rest of it, isn't funny. It's grim. His liberties—such as he ever had; his daily life; his labor; his business; all the wealth and productivity of his country, have been poured into the caldron of a brutal war of aggression.

And after four years Japan and the Japanese are getting nowhere fast with that war. The Tokyo announcement of the new program used the right words—that one towel a year and all the rest of it are unavoidable "because of Japan's serious situation."

TOO MANY COLLEGES?

Has the United States "far more universities, colleges and other operating institutions and far more voluntary organizations for worthy purposes than the nation can possibly afford?" Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Foundation of New York, says it has. A corollary of this, in his opinion, embodied in its annual report, is that many are destined to disappear with the passage of the years.

The idea is not new. It takes added force, however, from Dr. Keppel's recognition of a duty to distribute the grants by this $135,000,000 foundation, set up by Andrew Carnegie in 1911, "that its influence will be directed toward survival of the fittest."

Most American colleges have come into existence in response to a demand of a geographic area or of a particular group of thinkers for cultural, professional or technical opportunities for improvement—sometimes all three. The efforts of the institutions first to gauge, then to meet the demand have not met with an equal degree of success. Some founders have been men of vision, others have lacked it.

But of almost all these institutions it can be said that they represent high aspirations and, in early years of the nation at least, entailed great sacrifices in their beginnings. About most of those that have not signally failed there is an aura of loyalty by faculty, undergraduates and alumni, even despite educational shortcomings and failures to measure up to the dreams of early days.

Dr. Keppel may be correct in his belief that many American colleges will be extinguished. But Americans like to hope that if the evolutionary test of the survival of the fittest will cause some of them to disappear it will not reduce the opportunity of American youth to achieve a higher education.

It's Duces Wild in that Adriatic game.

Sure, women are more adaptable than men to imperative necessities; men could never learn to walk on those heels.

We seem to gather, from the general situation, that Hitler wants Rumania to help him keep the Greeks out of Germany.

Turkeys that really had cause for thanks on Thanksgiving probably will have all the merry taken out of their Christmas.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SECRETS OF HAPPY HOME LIFE

A little while ago I described a happy farm family. Now let me give snippets from some business and professional families. Mrs. Myers and I have visited within recent weeks, in several different states.

1. We lunched with a mother and five children, girls 14, 12, 10, 8 and a boy 5. The mother is a Ph.D. in psychology, the father in botany. He was absent that day.

As we arrived, we met the mother and each child. Three children took our wraps. We had never been in their home before. After a few minutes I was allowed to help unpack a picture which just arrived, painted by an aunt. We all talked and admired the painting.

Then all of us sat down to lunch. The children, a few at a time, helped serve. Every child talked some, not too much. Each had an opportunity to feel worthy. The calm mother showed no fear that any child would say or do anything to embarrass her or us. She never once interrupted a child's conversation with me and Mrs. Myers, nor did they noticeably interrupt one another. By and by the four older children, each helping himself, went back to school and the youngest visited with the rest.

A few minutes later, without a word from anybody, he disappeared quietly. I learned that he had gone to take his nap.

2. A visit to Harmonious Homes. The father is a business man, the mother president of PTA. There is a daughter about 12, and a son 9. The mother received us as we arrived, she presented the daughter who helped take our wraps. Then the mother returned to the kitchen (doing her own work) and the daughter entertained us till the father and son arrived when she joined her mother. The parents were real companions to those children.

After dinner the daughter went to a neighbor to get some one to stay with them that evening. The 10-year-old son, at the father's request, telephoned a business man concerning an evening appointment with the father. The mother, Mrs. Myers and I went to the meeting.

3. The father is an engineer, the mother has done some writing. They have an only child, a girl 7. We were overnight guests. Soon after our meeting the daughter showed us her new coat and school report, and talked freely with us. She had remarkable poise. I had been in her home when she was three and observed her happy cooperation and guidance by both father and mother. I remember her put her to bed then.

4. The morning Dad fried the eggs and ham. Mother prepared other foods. Little daughter helped prepare breakfast without any apparent direction. Mrs. Myers and I sat and visited among them—another family with beautiful relationships.

Earlier in the afternoon I called at the home and studio of a newspaper columnist who writes for children—a grand person. For the first time, I met him and his charming wife. I missed the two boys who were at school but saw the baby one year old. And she is one of the happiest, best guided, understood children I have ever seen.

5. A Pittsburgh woman got a divorce from her husband because he was a burglar. She probably had to stay at home alone at night too much.

6. The father is a poor judge of Human Nature. What makes you think so?

Mable—"Because you have such a good opinion of yourself."

We do not want to go to war, but just the minute one of our ships sunk by Hitler there will be a gallop for the guns and cannon and away we will go where the fighting will be.

There are people who know enough to come in out of the rain but they do not want to carry an umbrella.

And then there are people who eat fish on Friday just to have a change of menu.

First Class Scout—"Oh, he can't stir."

Christmas makes a lot of pleasant conversation anyhow.

THE RETORT COURTESY
Two young men seated in a trolley car were discussing the prodigious size of the nose of a man seated opposite them. At length one of the young men stretched across the aisle and said: "Pardon me, sir, but would you mind telling me why your nose is so extraordinarily large?"

The man addressed lowered his newspaper and glanced kindly at his inquirer. "Not at all," he responded. "It's very simple. I have already kept it out of other people's business and let it grow."

Once there was a musician who mislaid his music, but played anyhow. And that's how swing was born.

A local nagger asked her husband if he would like to be free to marry again. He replied, "No, just free."

Radio applause sounds too much like static to be convincing.

The Optimist—By the way, Mary, did you put my cooking outfit in the bag? I'll want to fry some of the fish for lunch.

His Wife—Yes, dear and you'll find a can of sardines there, too.

And don't forget that free speech gets a lot of people into trouble—and often into jail.

Everybody wants their stuff on the first page of the newspaper. If the newspaper printed an item that

JUST IMAGINE

Someone asked us to visualize the expression of Grandma's face in her girlhood days had she seen a girl wearing a modern bathing suit. Then another person answered in this way:

"Her expression would have taken on a more purposeful meaning if she had caught Grandpa looking at one of them."

What's become of the old-fashioned person who asked the postmaster to "look again, please" when told he had no mail?

If it is true that all the hotels are crowded in winter resorts it seems funny that every day we get a lot of letters telling us to make reservations for any time during the winter.

The boss of the big office was a very busy man. A telephone buzzed and his secretary lifted the receiver.

"It's your daughter and she wants to give you a kiss over the telephone," the secretary said.

"Please take the message," said the boss absent-mindedly. "You can give it to me later."

It's a good thing we still have big farms in this country. They furnish a place for airplanes to land when they get into trouble, and cannot reach the airport.

A display of hostility doesn't mean a thing if there is nothing in them. There are too many obstructionist minorities in this country.

Small town papers used to publish a "sick list," or record that somebody was "entertaining a cold." And there was another popular saying, that was something like this: "At the urgent request of my friends I hereby announce my candidacy."

Handed in: "My wife has gone to the West Indies." "No she went of her own accord."

It is claimed that intoxication causes one-fifth of the fatal falls in the United States. That sounds reasonable.

We asked a local tailor the other day "What's new in men's clothes?" He replied that the shoulders are growing broader.

This sounds like a sensible change in fashions as the modern burdens are becoming heavier all the time.

Other Readers' Questions Answered
Question: I am a country girl lately arrived in the city. My new chums criticize my dialect. Do you think provincialisms bad taste?—Betty H.

Answer: One beneficial result of radio and screen is their leveling our language, standardizing it. More and more are they enlisting educated artists, except in low comedy, to their cultured voices and pronunciations you will forget your "you-alls," your "howdy folks," your "fatches," "dotters," "wotters," "earl cans," and your hard, burry "r's." Concentration on the conversation of new acquaintances known to be cultured will have the same beneficial effect.

Question: A friend of ours was married several months ago. At that time we had so many expenses we were unable to send a gift. The bride recently moved into her new home and as we have always felt bad about not sending a gift at the time of the wedding I wondered if I might bring her something for her new home when I make my first call or should I just let it go?—Cordelia.

Answer: By all means, take something to her when you visit her new home. This is the customary procedure when a friend moves into a new house. Your gift should be a picture frame, book ends, ash trays, coaster set, lamp, bon-bon dish, luncheon set or some such article.

Some men will make their wives blush if they cannot do it any other way they buy her cosmetics at the drug store.

"This would surely be a great world if we were all as good as our mothers think we are," said an East Side youngster.

Replacing Lord Lothian Difficult Job
Was Well Liked Here And Real Diplomat
Last Speech Asked For More Assistance

By CHARLES P. STEWART

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Lord Lothian's recent sudden death in Washington is spoken in our capital as having been almost as much a misfortune to this country as doubtless it was regarded by the British ambassador's home folk.

The marquis not only was much liked here personally. He also handled his diplomatic job very pro-British, which was quite satisfactory to our own outspokely pro-British national administration, and he did it in a way to give a minimum of offense to American isolationists. It's true that they called him a propagandist, but he was sufficiently tactful about it to avoid irritating them over-violently.

Even his death was admirably timed, in a fashion. The evening before it occurred he was scheduled to make a speech at an American Farm Bureau Federation gathering in Baltimore, and had it already prepared for the occasion, but was ill (only slightly so, it was supposed) when the time arrived, there assigned the British Embassy Counselor Nevill Butler to read it for him.

It turned out to be a strong appeal for Yankee aid to John Bull in the latter's conflict with the Axis. It was more, in fact, than an appeal for aid "short of war." It pretty plainly hinted that our naval assistance was desired. Indeed it was so specific that it probably would have provoked the isolationist element to declare that at last the ambassador had gone too far with his publicity campaign—had he still remained in the land of the living to be held responsible for it.

Isolationists Stopped
But his lordship was dead before the isolationists had had time to so much as peep on the subject. And since then it's been rather hard for them to pan a dead man. Thus the ambassador put across his address, after which he shut off the isolationists' responsive thunder by immediately dying.

Long before his funeral speculation was rife as to the probabilities of London's selection to succeed him.

Washington's expressed opinion was that he'd be exceedingly difficult to replace.

IT is true that both Mr. Knudsen and Mr. Nelson urged that industry and capital too must cooperate and not hang back, but clearly that was in order not to have their remarks construed as an attack on labor.

The fact is, however, that there have been no instances and no indications that industry and capital are not fully cooperating. In one case in which they can be shown to have pulled back. The pulling back is being done by organized labor, but the Defense Commissioners cannot be forced to say that flatly. The fact is every member of the commission—but they are afraid of political or personal or other reasons to say so publicly. Although the evidence is clear, as soon as anyone points to labor as unwilling to cooperate, he is at once charged with being anti-labor, or anti-administration, or with putting "property rights above human rights," or being willing to "draft men but not dollars," or of being guilty of some other equally degraded thing.

YET if Mr. Hillman's protest on behalf of organized labor against the War Department contract, cleared by Mr. Knudsen and awarded to the Ford Motor Company, is not pulling back, then words have no meaning. The contention is that the Ford Company has not fully cooperated with the NLRB rulings and hence should not be given any defense work. It was thought that this question had already been settled, but Mr. Hillman's protest dispels that hope.

The Question Of Labor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.

FOR a good many weeks now those who have observed the operations of the defense program in Washington have been pointing out that the work is far behind schedule and going very badly. Now two members of the Defense Commission itself—Mr. William Knudsen and Mr. Donald Nelson—publicly, simultaneously and flatly assert the same thing.

AND it is striking that on the same day that Mr. Knudsen and Mr. Nelson were calling attention to their speeches to the national risk involved in the present sag announcement of the attitude of another member of the commission—Mr. Sidney Hillman—should make more clear than anything the Messrs. Knudsen and Nelson had to say the reasons for what is generally recognized as a distressing state of affairs.

BOILED down, it comes to this: We are off from twenty to thirty per cent because organized labor will not permit the rigidity of the New Deal labor laws to be relaxed so as to make possible anything like full production from plants with defense contracts. In effect, Mr. Knudsen said that when he appealed against the "blackout" from Friday to Monday because of the five-day-a-week law. In effect, Mr. Nelson said the same thing when he urged that "labor must work harder and longer wherever necessary."

IT is true that both Mr. Knudsen and Mr. Nelson urged that industry and capital too must cooperate and not hang back, but clearly that was in order not to have their remarks construed as an attack on labor.

ent to replace with as suitable a representative as he was—a chap equipped to work himself offensively up to a dangerous climax, finally get that off and follow it by dying at exactly the right minute.

Outside the British embassy there aren't enough Englishmen in Washington to discuss the subject, and, of course, the embassy crowd were as mum as oysters.

There are some Canadians in our capital, though—mostly newspaper correspondents, here scurrying up war news, especially in connection with the U. S.-Canadian rapprochement as diplomats call it.

These boys are adequately talkative. To be sure, they truthfully confessed at once that they hadn't a notion who'd get the mission. One and all, however, they said in effect, "He ought to be chosen outside the English aristocracy." "Oh, yes," they admitted, "Lord Lothian was a fine man, but originally he was an appeaser." His last speech didn't sound much like appeasement, but that's what the Canadians declare he was while the late Neville Chamberlain lasted as Britain's prime minister. It was later, according to those Canucks' account, that he took the warpath.

Sam or Tom, Maybe
Their vote, as soon as Lord Lothian was dead, was in favor of a British laborite to succeed him—an ambassador with no title, not even a baronetcy or a knighthood, attached to him; just a plain mister, or a Sam or Tom, possibly.

The Canadians' notion is that such a plenipotentiary would make a hit in this country, and their theory is that they know us better than the overseas English do. Lord Lothian's death was coincidental with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor's presence in Miami on their dental visit, and the suggestion promptly was heard in Washington. "Why not the duke to fill the marquis' place?"

"Heck, no!" exclaimed the Canadian correspondents in chorus. "He's a nice guy, alright, but without a lick of sense. A duke would be worse than a marquis or a viscount or a baronet."

Hoover Reports On Communism Probe In Nation

Turns Over Voluminous Report
To Attorney General
Jackson

(International News Service)
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 18.—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, today referred to Attorney General Robert H. Jackson at Washington all questions regarding details of the voluminous report he announced yesterday, which declares the communist party should be outlawed.

Hoover said his department's report on communism had been submitted to Jackson on Nov. 28. It contained proof, he said, that Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader, is a communist and should be deported. The report also contained evidence, the G-man chief declared, that the communist party is committed to overthrow the United States government.

Hoover said he could not say what action might be taken on the report. The F. B. I., he said, is "an investigating agency."

"All we can do," he added, "is investigate and report."

The F. B. I. director also stated his bureau had prepared a list of 6,000 "potential enemies of the country," including communists and members of the German-American bund.

Secret Device Sought To Stem Night Air Raid

Britain's Working On Instrument To Locate Enemy Planes Through Sound

ENEMIES ARE BOTH HELPLESS

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Private advice from London state the British are now working on a new secret device which is hoped will enable the Royal Air Force, to smash Germany's deadly and destructive night aerial attacks on England.

The new device is a sound-detecting machine which will enable the British fighter planes to locate the sound of their motors. The device is designed to record automatically the approximate position of a nearby plane.

When the machine notifies the British pilot of the presence of another plane nearby, he will signal asking the plane to identify itself. If the plane fails to respond to the signal, the British pilot will notify the searchlight batteries of its position.

British Fighters Swing Into Action

Once the searchlights have caught the enemy plane in their beams the fighter will pounce on him.

The British night fighter lanes also are being equipped with small searchlights to help them identify enemy machines in the darkness. Germany's night aerial attacks on London have proved to be the most difficult form of assault the British have had to combat. Most of the death and destruction that has been wrought on the British capital has occurred during the night blitzkriegs of the German air force.

The British admit Germany's war birds have mastery of the air over England at night. The British claim they likewise have mastery of the air over Germany after darkness, despite the numerical superiority of the German air force.

Night Defenses Are Weak

This is due to the fact that defense against night aerial attacks is extremely weak. No adequate method of coping with these raiders that roar unseen through the darkness by either side in the European conflict.

Unless there happens to be a brilliant moon, darkness hides the war bats from the defending fighter planes that would quickly pounce on them in daylight.

Fighting planes at night are now only able to attack enemy raiders when the latter have been caught and held in the rays of the ground searchlights.

Thus, the usefulness at night of those speedy, deadly little fighter planes, most powerful method of defense against aerial attack, is almost negligible.

DOCILE DOBBIN CHEWS ON CAR'S RADIATOR GRILL

(International News Service)
LAUREL, Neb.—E. O. Waite of Laurel has been an insurance adjuster for many years, but he confesses, a claim turned in by Roy T. Johnson, president of the Laurel Telephone company, beats them all.

Johnson drove his shiny new automobile to the farm of Albert Miller and parked in a pasture.

While he was gone, a perfectly docile horse which had never before attacked anything, came up to the car and started chewing on the radiator grill. Puzzled by his reflection, the animal pushed in the sides of the car and left deep grooves on the fender with its hoofs. After taking off the windshield wiper with a neat nibble, the horse had started gnawing at an inside window frame when the owner returned.

Adestes Fideles

O come all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant,
O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem,
Come and behold HIM,
Born the King of Angels:

Sing, choirs of Angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heav'n above,
Glory to God
In the highest, glory!

Chorus:
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord.

Silent Night

Silent night! Holy night!
All is calm, all is bright.
Round yon virgin mother and Child,
Holy Infant, so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent night! Holy night!
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Glories stream from Heaven afar,
Heav'nly hosts sing Alleluia,
Christ, the Savior, is born!
Christ, the Savior, is born!

Silent night! Holy night!
Son of God, love's pure light,
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth.

The music for this poem of Joseph Mohr was written by Franz Gruber, a schoolmaster in the town where Joseph Mohr served as a priest. First sung in the village church at Christmas time in 1818, the song for some years was wrongly attributed to the famous composer, Joseph Haydn.

Favorite Christmas Carols

Hark! the Herald Angels Sing

Hark! the herald angels sing,
"Glory to the newborn King!
Peace on earth, and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled!
Joyful, all ye nations, rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With th' angelic host proclaim,
"Christ is born in Bethlehem."

Christ, by highest heav'n adored;
Christ, the everlasting Lord;
Late in time behold Him come,
Offspring of the favored one;
Veiled in flesh, the God-head see;
Hail th' incarnate Deity,
Pleased, as man with men to dwell,
Jesus, our Immanuel!

Hail the heav'n born Prince of Peace!
Hail the Son of Righteousness!
Light and life to all He brings,
Ris'n with healing in His wings.
Mild He lays His glory by,
Born that man no more may die;
Born to raise the sons of Earth,
Born to give them second birth.

Refrain:
Hark! the herald angels sing,
"Glory to the newborn King!"

A favorite among the Christmas songs, this carol was written by Charles Wesley, younger brother of John Wesley, the founder of the Methodist denomination. Its musical setting was composed by Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, the famous composer, pianist, organist and conductor, who died in 1847 at the age of 38.

Teacher Writes To Aunt Here Of War In Britain

In a letter just received by Miss Blanche Bright, of Hanna street, from her niece, Miss Gwen Moore, who is teaching in a girls' school in Brecon, Wales, an insight into the hardships which the people of Britain face is graphically told, particularly in reference to rationing and the sharing of their homes with the less fortunate.

An extract from the letter to Miss Bright, follows:

The war is terrible, but I expect you have been told, and have read, very often, of the spirit there is in the country. In one way I think we are much more serious than in the last war. There is no flag-wagging or boasting, and no hysteria. We realize, of course, after the last war, what war means, and we have just settled down to win this one. I think Churchill's phrase "Grim but gay" just describes it.

You mustn't think we are all seething with hatred, somehow that never seems to be our way, but there is no suggestion of a thought of doing anything but going on to the end. If we could survive the shock the collapse of France was, we can face anything. Even then, what most people said was "Well, now we know where we are, and we just have our own country to look after."

Naturally there are all manner of things to put up with, and there often is grumbling, but it is all really matter, and is mostly to do with the fact that we don't have enough. And we shouldn't be English if we didn't often think we could manage things better than people in authority. But the government has been wise about some things, lessons they learned from the last war, like rationing, which came in quite soon, and the convoy system, and control of prices.

We are going to be poor for the rest of our lives—anyway people of my generation, who were still paying for the last war when this one began, but that is nothing, if the menace of freedom is smashed. The income tax on my salary is three times as much this year as it was last, and I suppose it will be more before it is all over. And then, of course, the cost of living is much higher and going up all the time, and one's salary doesn't rise.

We have been so heartened by the sympathy and practical help shown in such full measure by America, not only in big political ways, like the destroyers, but even more in the ways your Red Cross is sending supplies. Mary is Secretary of the Women's Voluntary Services in Brecon—they organize anything that wants doing from canteens for the troops to arrangements for evacuees and refugees. On Saturday morning she took me to the room where all the clothes are being stored that have been sent to us from your Red Cross for mothers and children. It was lovely to think that, however, destitute the poor things may be when they get here, they will be able to be fitted up with anything they want. The first things that came were 54½ dozen cotton frocks for girls, such pretty gay colors. What took my fancy most were the layette sets—everything a mother could want for a new baby. We have been sent 100 of those. I noticed on the tags sewn in the necks of garments the name of the "Chapter" had been written in, and I wanted to look through every garment to see if I could find New Castle. The sight of all these clothes made us realize that we are not just alone in the struggle, and it was a very heartwarming feeling.

We are sharing our school building with an evacuated one from London. They went first to Hastings and then in the summer when raids began to be bad, places on the south coast were not safe, so they were sent here. Most schools that are sharing—and that is most schools—work on a double shift, one school taking the morning and the other the afternoon, but fortunately we haven't had to do that as St. Ursula's, our visiting school numbers only 130, so we managed to fit them in, so that we both have whole day sessions, which is very much better. But we are frightfully crowded as you can imagine and there never is a square inch of space to spare and things do sometimes get on our nerves. But we are really very lucky, and don't have nearly so many problems as some schools we know of.

The girls of St. Ursula's are billeted in houses of the town and that is really one of the biggest changes the war has brought, having strangers in our homes.

So far we are rationed in sugar—8 oz. per week per person; butter—6 oz.; tea, 2 oz.; meat, 1-10 worth (44 cents); bacon, 4 oz. The prices of all these are controlled and are not much dearer than before the war. There are things which are difficult to get because a certain quota and some things are really dear and will be dearer, but on the whole our way of living is not very different from pre-war times, only it costs more. But there is no shortage of food at all.

It is my night to sleep at the First Aid Post, so I hope no siren will go early. We haven't had a siren for a week now, it has been a pleasant change, for up to then we had them pretty well every night and sometimes two or three times. We have had a number in the day too, which is a nuisance as far as school work goes, though the girls do take work down to the shelters. We haven't had any bombs very near, thank God. You will have heard of the fierce attack on Coventry, last Thursday. It is dreadfully sad to think of that lovely Cathedral gone. It is this indiscriminate bombing which is so awful. The damage to real military objectives is so small compared with the churches, shops and homes that have been wrecked. There are some people who want reprisals, but they are very few, and the general feeling is that we ought not to sink to the enemy's level.

You mustn't be anxious about us. We all have the same anchorage of faith, and that gives us courage and confidence to face whatever is in store.

Pierre-Etienne Flandin

Named to succeed Pierre Laval, who was purged from his positions as vice premier and foreign minister of France, was Pierre-Etienne Flandin, former finance minister. Flandin took over the foreign ministry, but the vice premier post was left empty. Laval was a prime mover in the attempt to bring France into closer accord with the Rome-Berlin Axis.

Plans For K. Of C. Children's Party Near Completion

Gala Event Will Be Held For Catholic Children, Sunday
Afternoon, December 22

According to an announcement made by Sergeant Owen E. Tighe, plans are functioning smoothly for the gala event—the Christmas party for all children of the Roman Catholic parishes of this city, on Sunday, December 22, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus organization.

The little youngsters will first participate in an elaborate Christmas program, which is scheduled to commence at 2 o'clock, in front of the K. of C. Home, North Jefferson street. Christmas carols and songs typical of their nationality, appropriate for the grand holiday, will be heard through the public address system.

Following the groups' individual performance, they will be guided by a chairman to the third floor of the K. of C. Home, where they will be served a dainty repast. A candy treat will be given to the youngsters and they will be visited by Santa Claus, enacted by William Carlin, Sr.

A large crowd is expected, and arrangements are being made to accommodate those who will attend. The program, which is being planned for the occasion, includes pastors of the various churches as speakers. Sergeant Owen E. Tighe is the master of ceremonies. Assisting the various groups will be Miss Clare Duff, pianist.

This is the first undertaking of Santa Claus by the Knights of Columbus, and with the cooperation of the chairman and their committees, it is expected that the affair will be a success.

Secretary Russell Bitterly Criticizes Proposed Closing Of State Sewing Projects

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Secretary of public assistance Howard L. Russell on Tuesday bitterly criticized the contemplated closing of WPA sewing projects and vigorously objected to the use of the "25 per cent" rule as a reason for dismissing more than 12,000 women project workers.

In a letter to Col. Philip Matthews state WPA administrator, Russell branded as "clearly groundless" the relief agency's charge that the commonwealth failed to contribute sufficient funds to keep the projects in operation.

"Since the state is unquestionably supplying more than an average of 25 per cent on the combined group of projects involving state sponsorship—the sewing project included—your attempt to place on the state government the blame for a deficiency which exists in the average percentage of state and local contributions is clearly groundless," Russell declared.

"It is the first time in my experience in relief administration," Russell told Matthews, "that I have known the responsible head of a relief agency to resort to this type of stratagem you used."

"For the 30 month period from July 1, 1938 to December 31, 1940," he asserted, "the department of public assistance has contributed $1,393,000 under the $2.50 per month per worker arrangement or an average of $46.40 monthly."

"In recent months," Russell added, "the contribution has averaged $30,000 monthly due to a cut in the number of project workers from 19,000 to 12,000."

He added that a cut of 7000 employees was made while the department was contributing the full amount called for under the terms of the agreement and that the federal regulations requiring an "average combined contribution from state and local sponsors equaled 25 per cent of the total cost of the project."

PAIN

We medical men frequently encounter cases that become serious because the patients regarded pain as a disease or disorder itself—something to be dosed with a "painkiller." Doses of "painkillers" gave them temporary relief, and not until there was a serious outbreak of sickness did they submit to the treatment really called for by the pain.

Pain is only a symptom—a warning that something is wrong organically. As the poet wrote, "nature knows best, and she says so!" If you hurry to the medicine chest at the first sign of pain, dose yourself with some drug, and consider yourself cured when the pain ceases as a result of the dosage, and don't do anything until the pain returns, then you are ignoring the warning. Of course, pains aren't always warnings of serious ailments. Head-about taking aspirin, because really severe reactions can be the result. However, if you are sure you aren't sensitive to aspirin, and you are suffering from pain, one or two tablets every three or four hours can be used to relieve pain until the doctor comes. Persons who suffer from heartburn when they take aspirin should have a little baking soda in the water with which they wash down the aspirin tablets.

Always keep in mind Meredith's injunction, "There is purpose in pain." When you have one, the thing to do is find out what the purpose is.

Will Urge Martin To Remain G. O. P. Chairman

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Congressional Republicans today are virtually unanimous in urging House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin to remain as G. O. P. national chairman even if he turns his committee duties over to a paid assistant.

Behind this move to retain Martin as head of the national committee lies a battle between congressional Republicans and Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 nominee, for control of party machinery during the next four years. The congressional Republicans turned on Willkie since his post-election statement, blaming his defeat in part on the party's record in Congress on the aid Britain and conscription issues.

Outstanding Republican chiefs, who have urged Martin to remain as chairman, include the G. O. P. vice presidential nominee, Sen. Charles McNary, Alf M. Landon, the 1936 nominee, and Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who fought Willkie for the nomination at the Philadelphia convention.

A suggestion that Martin be given a paid assistant to lighten his committee duties came from Sen. Robert H. Taft, of Ohio, who also fought Willkie for the nomination at Philadelphia. Taft first observed: "It looks now as though Mr. Martin will be asked to stay (as chairman) for a while."

Taft then added: "I don't mean to imply that there is or will be a fight over the chairmanship but it is important to avoid a fight within our party and if it will avoid a fight, then it will be a good thing for Martin to stay."

Dutch Steamer Is Victim Of Torpedo

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The Atlantic "graveyard" where Germany's U-boat campaign has been intensified recently, today claimed another torpedo victim in the Dutch steamer Pendrecht.

A message picked up by Mackay radio said the Pendrecht was torpedoed by a submarine about 500 miles west of the northern tip of Scotland.

The Pendrecht, it was believed, was under control of the British government.

That's right, they didn't pay us the other time. But if a cop is saving you from gangsters, do you worry about the five bucks he owes you?

Christmas Buying Wave Reaches New Peak In State

Shopping Marks May Be Exceeded

Prospects Seen For New High Holding Record In Pennsylvania

BIG CENTERS HAVE NOTABLE BUSINESS

By EVERETT GERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—The Christmas buying wave hit a new peak in Pennsylvania today and threatened to establish shopping records.

State and Chamber of Commerce experts were agreed that business had reached a new top for 1940 with employment, payrolls and trade at the highest level of the year.

Temperatures and weather in keeping with the season were credited with helping to boost retail sales far above totals for the same period last year. Cold weather stimulated business, and last week end proved to be the best of the year.

Break Records

The heads of three major department stores in Philadelphia jubilantly predicted that all shopping records, including those of 1929, would be broken before Christmas day. Stores were jammed with shoppers from early morning until late evening.

The president of one large store reported:

"This is the largest year in our history. We have already passed the 1929 and 1939 records, which were our high marks until this year. There were more people in our store than ever before and the average sale is higher."

Huge Buying Wave

The buying wave which developed around Thanksgiving began last Saturday to push forward to its highest level of the year to date.

according to reports received at the State Commerce Department. Increased buying of luxury articles was reported.

Predictions were freely made that the size of the shopping crowds indicated that the current week will prove to be one of the best of the 1940 holiday season. Toy sales were observed to be about even with last year.

More conservative trade analysts warned, however, that too much optimism should not be engendered by the results of trade in the first two weeks of December. It is highly probable, one merchant said, some of the business that fortnight was "borrowed" from the period just before Christmas.

Military Missions To Go To South America

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Quietly and rapidly rounding out western hemisphere defense planning, the United States government today prepared to send new military missions to two South American nations.

State department officials who disclosed this information refused to name the nations to which the new missions will be accredited, but pointed out that this step will give the U. S. a real voice in the military structure of 11 western hemisphere republics.

This was revealed as orders were drafted for replacing the Italian military mission that supervised Ecuador's defenses for four years, with a four man U. S. navy and air corps group.

In all cases, it has been so arranged that the missions have been established at the specific request of the country to which they are assigned. While the missions do not have actual executive powers over the military in these countries, they do handle the all important work of training the fighting forces.

In Guatemala, for instance, the American military mission operates the Guatemala "West Point". In Haiti, the U. S. military mission acts as adviser to the National Guard of the republic.

Every mission is in a position to come intimately acquainted with conditions in the nation to which it is assigned. Through its members, this government keeps a constant and watchful outpost to the south.

Military officials in Washington expect the American government to have missions in nearly every one of the 20 American republics within another 18 months.

Expansion of U. S. military and naval influence in South and Latin America has paralleled a corresponding contraction of other foreign influence in the military of these countries. Establishment of such American missions also frequently results in increased trade with the nations to which they are assigned.

The U. S. already maintains a military aviation mission in Argentina, an air mission in Chile, and navy missions in Colombia, Peru and Brazil.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

What's the matter with acid fruits and milk at the same meal? Absolutely nothing, despite alarms of some old-fashioned persons.

It is true that acid fruits may curdle milk. But the digestive juices do the same thing to milk.

There is no danger in taking orange juice with a milk drink. Many persons are afraid of the acid in certain foods.

Oranges, tomatoes and other satisfying foods are often refused. These foods tend to counteract acidity although they taste acid.

Mankind has been experimenting with diet for centuries. A well-balanced meal has been found to be the best for the most.

Food faddists abuse their stomachs wretchedly.

Don't worry about acids but get nourishment through a normal diet.

City Officials Meet Commerce And Property And Supplies Cabinet Members

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Commerce Secretary Richard P. Brown today was planning a personal survey of New Castle prior to making specific recommendations aimed at capturing industrial orders placed under the national defense program.

D. O. Davies and Joseph Alexander, councilmen, and Glenn Throop, city engineer, conferred at Harrisburg yesterday with Brown and Secretary of Property and Supplies Roger W. Rowland and discussed various methods of stimulating industry as well as improvement of the local airport.

Rowland, a resident of New Castle, pledged himself to "stick with the problem until a solution has been reached or efforts were exhausted."

NON-DEFENSE SPENDING WILL BE DECREASED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Instituting a rigid economy drive on non-defense spending, President Roosevelt has summarily halted the public building program of the federal government, administration sources disclosed today.

His order, put into effect by the budget bureau, will block construction of approximately 150 federal buildings in all parts of the country. It will retain in the treasury for defense purposes about $30,000,000 of building funds.

A public building administration official revealed the belief that this new order will stand "for the duration" of the current defense program. He predicted it will be broadly extended into other fields of non-defense expenditures.

New Government Munitions Plant Booms Ohio Town

Four Thousand Men Will Soon Find Employment At Ravenna

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O.—With all the speed of a downtown $14,215,000 munitions building plant is rapidly taking shape at nearby Ravenna with the United States government furnishing the cash.

More than 1000 workmen are already "mushrooming" a huge construction camp and within a fortnight 4000 men will start active work on the arsenal.

Hiring is being done through American Federation of Labor unions with whom the contractor, the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co. of Cleveland, holds a closed shop contract.

Three field headquarters buildings, a hospital, and a tool shed of considerable proportions have shot up within three weeks. Four office dormitories, two mess halls, a laborers' bunkhouse, a parking lot for more than 1000 automobiles, several roads, two railroad spurs, and miles of power and telephone lines are scheduled for completion within a month.

Unusual Yuletide Display At Library

Christmas Scene With Moving
Characters On North
Street Veranda

This Christmas, the Free Public Library has a yuletide display that is not only unique but is one well worth a persons time to view. Entirely new, the display is said to be the best yet exhibited by the library.

On the large window sill on the North Street veranda of the building is a six by eight foot display of a desert scene. Feature of the exhibit are the travelling characters, including camels, shepherds, and sheep, moving in a day and night scene that requires two minutes to view.

Devised and decorated by Louis P. Wadlinger, custodian of the library, the scene was so constructed that the lights go on and off, producing a night and twilight scene. The display has an electric motor furnishing power to pull three belt contrivances, arranged in tracks to haul the wisemen, shepherds and other characters. The images appear and disappear under the platform. On these same tracks, Mr. Wadlinger has devised electrical contact points, which he calls butterflies. These produce a rheostatic lighting effect.

To the left of the desert scene is a small manger, in which Christ's crib may be seen.

The entire exhibit is automatically controlled and works to the accompanying music of carols, produced by a hidden amplifier.

ALL IN A DAY'S WORK

NEW YORK—Students of the New York Department of Sanitation's class in the application of chains received an abrupt shock recently, when their instructor, Howard Sargent, dove out of the class window and into the East river. Sargent, who was teaching his class in a pier building, happened to spot the bobbing head of a man, who had fallen into the river. The instructor made the rescue and then returned to teach his pupils.

SONG RESEMBLANCE

COLUMBUS, O.—Trouble and nothing but trouble has been the lot of Prof. Allen McManigal, chime player de luxe at Ohio State University ever since he dusted off an old fraternity song, "Sing to the Royal Purple." Someone discovered that the song had the same tune as the Nazi anthem, "The Horst Wessel Song." Professor McManigal has to promise to play the "Star Spangled Banner" to make amends.

Playwright's Nightmare

Contrast in writing for the stage and for radio is shown in this picture with Max Marcin, prolific scripter, sitting between two years of work for both mediums. At left are two hit plays, a total of 240 pages of dialogue. At right are scripts for such radio programs as "Crime Doctor" and "Johnny Presents," amounting to 2,760 pages of dialogue. For the stage it takes about a year to write a play which might run a year but for the microphone it takes about a week to write a program which usually lasts a half hour and is all over.

TRAIN ENGINEER FINDS RATTLESNAKE COILED IN HIS LAP

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Engineer James Connolly of the Louisville division of the I. & N. Railway wondered what that soft object was that had landed in his lap as he drove through a tunnel near Gallatin, Tenn.

He was on an upgrade that required most of his attention, however, and it was a few seconds before he looked down and saw a rattlesnake coiled in his lap. By this time the rattler was thoroughly aroused and preparing for hostile action.

The engineer didn't dare take time for a battle with the snake because he had to keep his attention on the train, but he had to do something quick.

Jumping up so that the rattler fell from him he grabbed the fire hose which luckily was at hand and turned the steam on the reptile. It retreated from the cab.

NEW EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM HELPS TO SPEED READING

(International News Service)
CHICAGO—Kindergarten children today are being brought to a state of "preparedness for reading" in much less time than formerly. Madeline Semmelmay, principal of the Children's Studio, of New York, recently declared at the University of Chicago's annual reading conference.

Under the new system, she said, only two and one-half months are required at the end of which the children are ready to read. The instruction she added, raised the average I. Q. rating from 11 to 16.

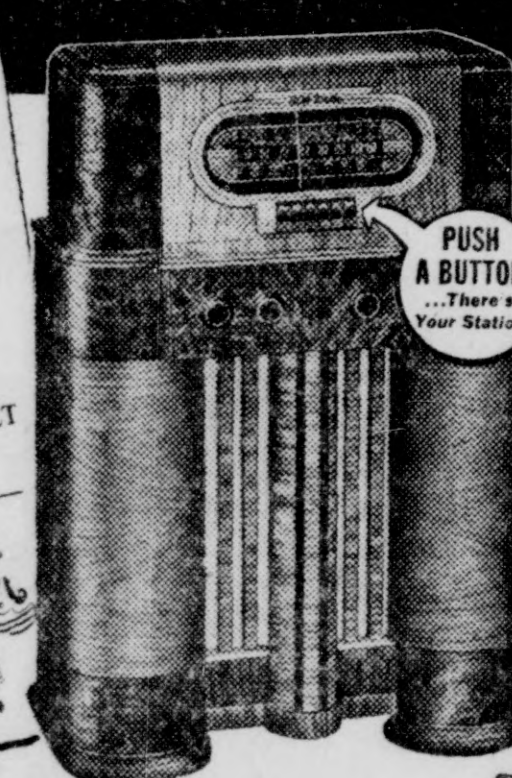

An important step in the new system, according to Miss Semmelmay, is the use of scrapbooks, with the children pasting the word "dog" for example, beneath pictures of various canine pets. Through their familiarity with dogs, cats and other creatures and objects children readily acquire a mental picture of words and their associations.

Ahem! Chickens Now Being Flooded With Ultra Violet Rays

There's an old saying that "There's nothing new under the sun". However, Moreland Thompson, well known chicken fancier of the New Wilmington district, is trying something new—a sun lamp or ultra violet rays instead of cod liver oil to prevent rickets, make eggs richer in vitamin D and form a stronger egg structure.

Apparently the experiment has proved good so far, because one of his chickens, a white leghorn pullet, holds first place for egg laying in the second month of a New York state contest being held at Farmingdale, L. I. Another "bird" as Thompson calls his feathered friends, holds fifth place for the same period.

The sun lamps, or ultra violet rays, which some people use in the north to gain a Florida tan and also to chase away such aches and pains were placed in operation by Walter Gross, rural electrification agent of the Pennsylvania Power company. They're now shedding vitamin D to Thompson's chickens.

The ultra violet rays spread upon chickens as they eat and drink. Of course, the rays will not penetrate feathers but the vitamin D from the rays is absorbed through combs and legs, according to Thompson, who knows chickens from C to N.

Economical Move
He believes the ultra violet rays instead of cod liver will prove more economical for him. Already he has 15 sun lamps in operation and within a short period, another half dozen will be placed in various coops. If the experiment holds out as indications promise, it may prove a new phase in chicken life.

A newspaper reporter who knows as much concerning chickens as he does of Hitler's future plans—and that is absolutely nil—was informed of some phases of chicken life yesterday when he visited Thompson. When he entered a coop where hundreds of chickens were scurrying and fro he noticed the windows painted floridly and the rays from the sun lamp as blended as to give the chickens a yellowish appearance whenever they strut beneath the ultra violet rays.

Heated cables which run through the ground keep the coops warm, likewise drinking water for the birds, several species being represented among the thousand. There was an absence of pecking, due, Thompson said, to cleanliness and lack of blood on wings.

Peck Red Spots
The yellowish light, he said, gave a different than red color to any blood upon their wings. "Chickens are naturalistic, you know," Mr. Thompson explained. He asserted that a bright red spot on another chicken caused an attack. Traveling to another section we espied another new wrinkle we've never noticed before. The grading by weight of eggs and then the cleansing of the egg. The eggs were placed in what may be termed a slot. They rolled downward.

Along came a clam-shaped "elevator". The egg was clutched by the "clam elevator" then dropped into its correct niche, according to weight. The grader is more sure than grading by hand. The latter practice can prove costly.

After the eggs were graded they were sent to the "cleaners"—a machine. The eggs were placed in a slot and as the eggs were whirled by a roller in all directions they were shined by one of many "wheels" of emery.

Gives Florida Tan
According to Thompson, the grading machine can grade four cases or 1,500 eggs in less than an hour. Hand labor can not do the work nearly so well, he stated, and he ought to know because he has to take care now of 1,000 dozen eggs a week.

But the main thing is substitution of ultra violet ray for cod liver oil. The experiment, he reports, has worked out satisfactorily so far.

Many Appeals For Christmas Aid Are Coming In Daily

Salvation Army Getting Ready To Provide Baskets For Many Locally

Captain Carl Andreasen, who heads the local Salvation Army Corps, receives a number of appeals daily for a bit of aid at Christmas time. The letters come from all parts of the county and from large families and small families.

To all these appeals, Captain Andreasen is planning to do everything that he can to help these unfortunate folks. Each family will receive a big Christmas basket, loaded with sufficient food to give even the largest family a fine Christmas dinner.

In addition to the baskets, Captain Andreasen is making arrangements for a Christmas party at the Corps home on North Jefferson street, at which time Santa will distribute toys to the youngsters in the various families.

"All of the money for this Christmas work," Captain Andreasen stated, "will come from the Christmas kettles, which are now in place along the streets of the city. The kettles will be in town tonight and every night that the stores are open, from now until Christmas.

To Stress Safety At Truck Dinner

Approximately 250 Expected Thursday Night At P. M. T. A. Dinner In Castleton

Safety will be the keynote of the evening Thursday, December 19, when the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, holds its annual safety dinner in the Castleton. About 250 are expected to attend, including some guests from chapters in other counties.

The president of the Lawrence County chapter, Paul W. Keeley, will be in charge of the dinner as general chairman and said today that Mayor Charles B. Mayne would make the address of welcome. Other guests who will be introduced and may speak briefly will be Judge W. Walter Braham, Fred L. Rentz, Louis B. Round, and the three men elected to the General Assembly, J. K. McQuiddy, Presley N. Jones and George T. Weingartner.

The principal address of the evening will be by Edward Gogolin, general manager of the P.M.T.A. who will come from Harrisburg. It is possible that State President Howard D. Gibbs will be present also. Fred Clarke, chairman of the display committee said today that the displays would be placed in the lounge room of the hotel and would be open for public inspection at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Whether it ends in a Nazi victory or a dogfall, continued turmoil and suspicion will keep all nations armed to the limit in our time.

It depends on which side the dictator favors. Those who resent Roosevelt like Jesse Jones, who has more financial power than Hitler.

Many Of Belief Billy Conn May Upset Joe Louis

Lawton Carver, INS Sports Editor Still Strings With Louis And Knockout

SOME FEEL SORRY FOR PITTSBURGHER

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—So after months of yammering and waiting Billy Conn is going to sign up Friday to fight Joe Louis for the world heavyweight championship and a lot of people already are beginning to feel sorry for the lanky, good-looking light heavyweight titleholder. Some are saying that it is a crime for his manager, Johnny Ray, and Promoter Mike Jacobs to throw him in with one of the greatest punchers that ever lived, especially when Conn hasn't any punch to speak of and is so thin through the middle and might get all busted up. That's what some are saying. But this is a story of Conn and what a few other observers express as their sincere and honest opinion, that he not only has a chance with Louis but that he figures to win the fight.

Still Likes Louis
I don't know why this should be. Six months ago there wasn't a man in the land, except Conn and Johnny Ray, who thought he could do anything with so good a heavyweight as Louis, and it was a little surprising to walk alone cauliflower row—over on West 49th—yesterday and hear heated arguments in which Conn's supporters were both nervous and vociferous. They will even put their money on him. You explain it.

I can't be sure what I think about it—not that it's important one way or the other, but just off-hand, right now—and clinging to the right to change my alleged mind, if any. I'm going to maintain my original notion that Louis will score a knockout.

Molnar Bad News

Molnar the start Sharon forward, had four field goals the first period to give the Tigers the edge, this being as many field goals as New Castle's combined team made the whole first half. Smith and Wolansky added to the Sharon points the first half.

New Castle was outscored again in the third period 5 to 3, to trail at the end of the third period 24 to 14. But in the fourth and final period, New Castle came back to outscore the Sharonites 7 to 4, but could not overcome the big first half lead.

Charles "Red" Ross was the New Castle standout, and it was all Molnar for Sharon, who was the games leading scorer.

The locals next game is January 10, with Aliquippa here for a Section Three battle.

Seventeen Grid Squad Men At Westminster Are Awarded
Letters

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 18.—Seventeen Westminster college football squadmen were awarded varsity letters here in an Athletic chapel service.

Senior awards went to Tony Valicenti, Pittsburgh, and Paul Rood, Kittanning. Only junior letter-winner was Pete Evanoff, McKean. Sophomore and freshman honors went to Duane Davis, Grove City; Felix and Joseph DeMoise, Greensburg; Charles Horton, E. Liverpool; Jack Hudson, Kittanning; John Tack Butler, James Wilson, Canton, O.; Ted Ossoff, Oil City; Rodney Lane, Johnstown; Bob Washbaugh, New Wilmington; Chalmers Zech, Pittsburgh; Dan Harris, Charleroi; Dale Riggie, Vandergrift; and David Reed, Kingwood, W. Va.

Pete Evanoff, McKean halfback and two-letter winner, was named football captain for the 1941 season.

FRANCIS SCHMIDT HAS FINE RECORD

Francis Schmidt, who recently forwarded his resignation as football coach at Ohio State, has an imposing record.

The exponent of the razzle-dazzle type of football, started at Tulsa and moved his baggage to Texas Christian. Ohio State was the next stop.

Schmidt's lifetime record shows 166 victories, 56 defeats against 13 deadlocks for a .757 mark. At State, Schmidt's clubs garnered 39 triumphs, lost 16 times and were tied once.

IRISH CAGE TUTOR
HAS ROBUST MARK
Coach George Keogan, who recently started his eighteenth season as basketball mentor at Notre Dame, has one of the best records in the collegiate ranks.

Despite six setbacks last season, Keogan's all-time Notre Dame percentage dropped only six points to a robust .770.

Titans Will Play Indiana Tonight

Hope For Fourth Win In Game On Home Floor
Against Teachers
Team

FOX

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 18.—At one of the forward posts for the Westminster Titans tonight on the New Wilmington floor against a strong and rugged Indiana Teachers college quintet will be Lee Fox, New York junior. He will probably pair with "Chuck" Ridd of Irwin.

Fox, normally a dead-shot from almost any spot on the floor, has not found his shooting-eye yet this season, but is expected to start clicking before many more games.

Since the graduation of Joe "Long-shot" Ketra last year, Westminster has had no one to sink points from mid-floor and draw the opposition defense from the close-in zone. It is expected that this assignment may fall to Fox, whose reputation on set-shots has been excellent.

Coach Washbaugh hopes to make it four straight with the Indiana game. He will probably start Fox and Ridd at forwards; Wasik at center; and Spak and Dunmire at guards. The game is called for 8:15. Since the Indiana cagers are chiefly football lettermen, the Westminster-Indiana contest promises to be one of the roughest and hardest-fought of the season.

Grove City High Tops East Brook

Thrilling Finish Gives Grove
City High 27 To 26 Win
Over East Brook

East Brook High went to Grove City last night and returned on the short-end of a 27 to 26 count after a thrilling basketball battle. The Grovers led the first period 7 to 3 and at the half 16 to 6. East Brook rallied the third period to take the lead at 22 to 21.

The play was fast and furious the fourth and final period with the score, see-sawing back and forth several times, first one team and then the other leading, but Grove City had more chips when the bell ended the ball game. Dickson starred for Grove City and Withers and Nene for East Brook. The East Brook High Reserves trimmed the Grove City Reserves in the preliminary game—22 to 19.

Pittsburgh Seeks Louis-Conn Fight

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18.—The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce launched a move Tuesday to bring the Louis-Conn heavyweight championship fight to Pittsburgh next June.

President Frank L. Duggan, in a letter to Promoter Mike Jacobs, of New York, promised the city's "heartiest cooperation and support" and pointed out that "Pittsburgh will be rooting for Billy Conn at the box office" if the show is staged here.

Duggan also cited the fact that industries, mills and businesses are booming and observed:

"The people of the area have the money to spend for a championship fight."

The 1940 Indiana football team scored on all of its opponents. This was the first season in which that happened for 20 years.

Nebraska Ready To Leave For Coast

(International News Service)
LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 18.—A final workout on their home field was planned today by Nebraska's Cornhuskers before they depart tomorrow on the first leg of their trip to the Rose Bowl, where they will face Stanford's Indians New Year's day.

A squad of 42 players, the largest group Coach Major "Biff" Jones ever has taken on a trip, will entertain tomorrow evening for Phoenix, Ariz., where the team will spend eight days working out. The Huskers plan to reach Pasadena on December 29.

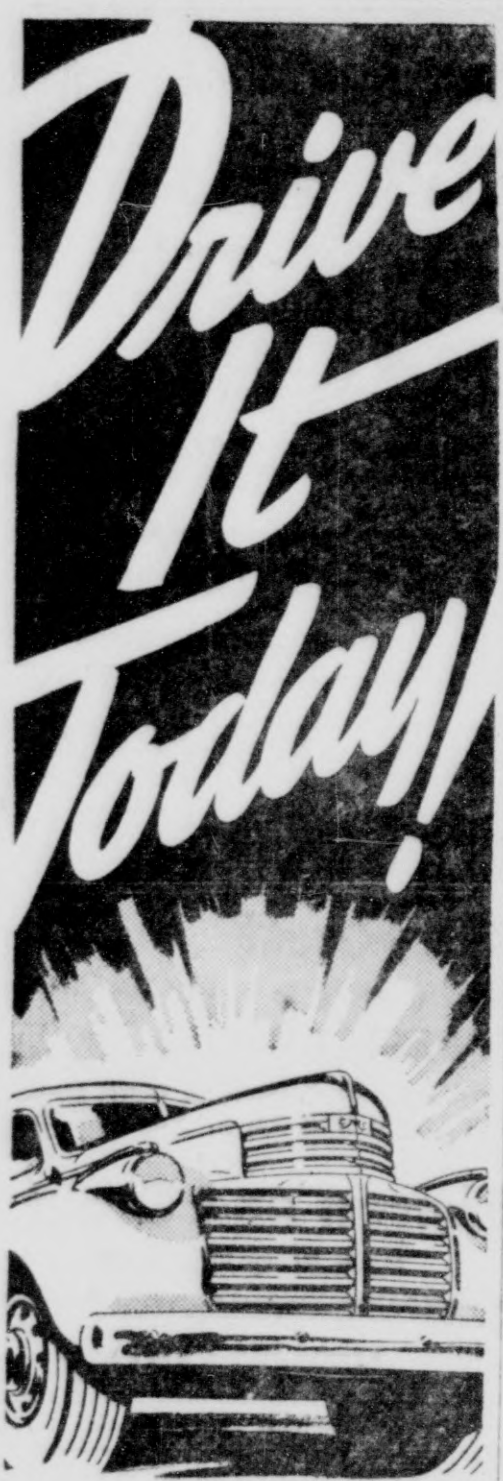

MELIO BETTINA WINS

ANGOTT 4-1 FAVORITE
(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18.—Sammy Angott, the Louisville light-weight king, ruled a 4 to 1 favorite for his ten-round non-title bout tonight with Don Eddy, Mohawk Indian from Buffalo, N. Y.

CONN BELIEVES HE IS MASTER OF JOE LOUIS

By HYPE IGOE
(International News Service)
BOSTON, Dec. 18.—Billy Conn after watching Al McCoy finish five rounds with Joe Louis, is more convinced than ever that he can win the heavyweight title from the Brown Bomber.

When McCoy failed to answer the bell for the sixth round, with Joe standing right over him in Al's corner in the Boston garden, Conn said: "That fellow McCoy, with only one good eye left, made Louis flounder and miss. What would he have done had I been in there, right on top of him with two good eyes."

"I would have gone the distance but for the eye," McCoy said in his dressing room after the fight.

"I had to guess when his right was coming. It's tough enough to fight Joe Louis with two good eyes. Fighting him with one eye can't be done. I guess."

"Conn is much more clever. Joe certainly hits harder," added McCoy.

Aim Is "Off"

Louis in his dressing room, complained about his missing. He failed to hit the mark, McCoy's jaw, half a dozen times with savage right handers.

"Joe been away five months," said Joe. "You don't get your aim back at first. He didn't land a punch that hurt me. He can't hit. At least I don't think he can."

When told that Conn had criticized his marksmanship, Joe drawled: "Well, if I fight Billy, my aim will be much better by that time."

"That's what did it," said Joe, referring to his heavy right-hand punches over McCoy's kidney.

"Those punches made him come up straight and he was so badly hurt that he couldn't bend after that and when I landed my best punch of the fight, a right uppercut to the jaw in the fifth, I knew he was through."

Harmon Unfavorable Toward Pro Game

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—One way or another, Tom Harmon, Michigan's great back, is going to get on the airlines, he asserted today.

Reiterating his statement that he will not play professional football next year, Harmon asserted he either will go through with his plan of becoming a radio announcer or join the army air corps.

"It's not for me. I don't care how much money they offer," he said of the pro grid game as he received the Robert W. Maxwell Memorial club's award as "America's outstanding player" for 1940.

"I'd like to fly if and when I get into the army. Michigan has a course in aviation and I'm going to try and sandwich it in between my English and radio announcing courses."

New Players For Factor Girl Five

The Factor Variety girls basketball team will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Polish Falcon hall. It was announced by Business Manager Joe Factor.

Several new players have been added to the Factor roster as follows, and are expected to make the team one of the strongest in this section of the state: Ann Hordig, late Shenango High star, Elsie Lattimer of New Castle High fame, Marian Reynolds, former Union High star, and Ann Sankovich and V. Glass, Bessemer high school luminaries.

Last Saturday night at senior high the Factors defeated the Youngstown Saxon girls 13 to 7. Jean Cerutti and Kate Smith were the stars for the Factors last Saturday.

MANN BEATS MOROZ

Nathan Mann, Hamden, Conn., won a 10 round decision over Henry Moroz, New York last night in New Haven. Mann weighed 190½; the loser 181½.

Sports bits collected along the avenue... Battling Terry, who was plenty tough as a 135-pounder during the heydays of Patsy Brannigan, Tom McMahon, Tony Ross and George Chip, only to mention a few, can't see Billy Conn whipping Joe Louis come this June. "Conn can't punch hard enough to hurt Louis. I don't think that Louis will knockout Conn. Conn is too smart to get in Louis' way," Terry opined.

A reliable source whispered in our ear that a lad by the name of Humphreys is slated for the fullback post at New Castle High in '41. The boy is a natural. He weighs 195, or a few pounds less, and stands about six feet tall. He has football class plus, wait and see. Oh, yes, don't overlook a boy named Shenedy, a crackjack on the basketball floor. Both athletes are in Ben Franklin junior high," the informant said.

A south sider tells us that John "Rags" Gennock, the ex-New Castle flipper-dipper, will continue his cage blasting in the local church league. Gennock will play for the St. Vitus five. He'll make his debut Friday night, playing against the Epworth. Our friend also brought to light the fact that Gennock potted 426 points in 41 games as a New Castle High performer.

Archery Hunters Urged To Report Killing Of Deer

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—The game commission today urged bow and arrow hunters who had killed a deer in season to report the kill to Harrisburg for the commission's records.

The commission pointed out that the archery nimrods should be "proud of their feat" and that game officials wanted to keep a record of the kill and photographs of the hunters.

Greenberg Is Top Two Base Swatter In American Loop

George Case Falls Off As Base Stealer; Retains Title With 35 Steals

Some of the 1940 American League kingpins and what they did in various departments:

George Case, Washington's fleet-footed outfielder, fell off as a base-stealer but managed to retain his laurels in this department, pilfering 35 basebombs.

In the two base hitting section, "Hank" Greenberg, of Detroit, topped the honors with 50 doubles. Honors for triples went to Greenberg's teammate, Barney McCosky, who batted out 19.

In total hits, Radeliff, McCosky and Roger Cramer, tied at 200, which was well below the 213 made by Red Rolfe of the Yankees the year before. And Rolfe, incidentally, topped from the heights as a 1939 leader in several departments to a new low for him in all around effectiveness.

The American League ran strictly to form in slugging last season. Sixteen players hit 20 or more homers for a new record; the Tigers smashed out at least one homer in 17 straight games for another record and a new high for the league was set, with an aggregate of 883.

Revolver Club Meets Tonight

The Sportsman's Revolver club will have its weekly practice shoot tonight at the Cathedral range at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced today by Secretary Charles Phipps.

Arrangements have been made to shoot a postal match with the Claremont, California police department revolver team. This match will be shot the second week in January, it was announced.

Church League Games Tonight

There are three church basketball league games on the menu for tonight. The first game will start at 7:45 o'clock. The first game will find the Central Christians battling the Croton Methodists.

In the second game the Mahoning Methodist team will play the strong St. Marys quintet. The third and final game sends the Central Presbyterians against the St. George Greeks.

FAST GAMES IN PEARSON LEAGUE

Five fast games were played in the Pearson Street Boys' Club cage loop. The results:

The N. Y. U. 38, Michigan 12; Oregon, spanked, 23-19; Notre Dame toppled Long Island, 16-10; Ohio State was nosed out by Alabama 15-14 and Pitt trounced Indiana, 22-10.

Hairless, Melichar, Humphries, D. Stockman, Pace, DeGennaro and Naples were high scorers. Crow and C. Natale, officiated.

Stock Market Meets Support

Mixed Trend Is Developed

After Slight Rise In Opening Trading

By LESLIE GOULD

International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The stock market met support today after its decline of the two preceding sessions, but developed a mixed trend after rising slightly at the opening. Steels were typical of the general market. Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube gained fractionally, but U. S. Steel lost as much. Many pivotal issues held at last night's closing levels, including Anaconda, International Nickel, Kennecott, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania R. R., Montgomery Ward, General Electric, North American Co. and Glenn L. Martin.

Modest gains were shown by Chrysler, General Motors, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison and Air Reduction. Dow Chemical was among the few to gain a point, while Case lost two points on an independent move.

Du Pont, Boeing, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber and American Smelting also were backward.
